Agenda Item: Up-date and re-adoption of Lumpkin County's Emergency measures and Emergency Management Documentations

Item Description: The purposed amendments to Lumpkin County's Emergency Management Ordinances

Facts and Historical Information:

Emergency Management is the process of planning and coordinating several different county departments, city departments, state agencies, and private entities to deal with an emergency, disaster, or catastrophe.

Local government is the first line of defense in a disaster. As a political subdivision of the state, county governments have the primary responsibility for coordinating and providing emergency management services to their communities. When a disaster strikes, it may take three or more days for service organizations, FEMA, GEMA and other state agencies to respond to assist local government depending on the type of emergency. In this interim, it is up to counties and cities to work together to meet the immediate needs of their citizens. One of the best ways for county commissioners to serve their citizens is to be prepared before the disaster strikes. Preparedness requires a continuous cycle of planning, managing, organizing, training, equipping, as well as improving processes and procedures that will prevent, protect against, respond to, recover from, create resources for, and mitigate the effects of emergencies.

Having these documents drafted and adopted prior to an emergency allows officials to focus their energy on responding to the emergency and addressing their immediate needs of the community. Also, being prepared and having a plan of action may save taxpayers millions of dollars in the event of an emergency.
